Get a community garden plot

There are two opportunities to gain a plot in one of Bend's community gardens Saturday.

One is a gathering from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at Hollinshead Community Garden, which is managed by the Central Oregon chapter of the Oregon State University Extension Service Master Gardeners. There are 20 spaces available in the 90-plot garden, located in Hollinshead Park, 1235 N.E. Jones Road, Bend. It's $25 for a small plot and $35 for a large. Gardeners will sign up, meet their garden mentor and see the

NorthWest Crossing Community Garden

By JoAnne Abbott
NorthWest Crossing Community Garden is up and running again for 2012! Our garden opened April 28, on a beautiful sunny Saturday morning! Don't be surprised, but we actually had a line of new gardeners WAITING for us to set up our registration tables!

Another is the Northwest Crossing, where the garden is now open to those who live outside the neighborhood, as well. Those interested should register at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Northwest Crossing Community Garden, adjacent to Discovery Park Lodge at Northwest Crossing Drive. Bring gloves and tools to help clean up the garden area, and hear tips on gardening from experts. Plots are $50 for the year, and will be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis Saturday.

A soil thermometer is key for telling you when it's time to plant different crops.

Seeds that go into a cold soil (no matter the calendar date) may sit and rot before they have absorbed the soil warmth necessary to germinate. Gardeners who plant seeds as late as mid-June note that their crop catches up to an earlier planted crop quickly.

Gardening classes

• Introductory-level instruction is offered at the Central Oregon Community College campus in Madras today, with additional classes in Redmond at Sage Elementary School on Thursday, in Prineville at the COCC campus on March 13 and in Bend at Oregon State University-Cascades Campus on March 14.

Advanced-level classes on growing vegetables will be held on March 27 in Bend at OSU-Cascades and on March 28 in Prineville at COCC.

All classes begin at 6:30 p.m., but due to high demand, preregistration is required. Registrants should log on to <http://extension.oregonstate.edu/deschutes/garden-classes-2011>.

• Central Oregon Master Gardener's 23rd Annual Spring Seminar on April 21 at the Deschutes County Fair & Expo Center in Redmond will be one of the high points for the Central

Oregon Master Gardeners Association year, according to President Pat Kelleing. Spring seminar classes will include "Four Season Greenhouse," "Fire Resistant Plants," "Truth About Organic Gardening" and "Gardening as You Age."

Bend residents can look forward to biweekly classes on a variety of subjects from May 10 through September 22 at Hollinshead Park Community Garden at 1235 N.E. Jones St. Information about all COMGA classes offered this year can be found at <http://goccomga.com>.
